Revisiting Younger's 10 Commandments: An Update of Irving Younger's Classic Rules for Cross Examination

The overriding issue when any witness testifies – in a mediation, examination for discovery, pre-trial hearing or at trial – is his or her credibility. Your effectiveness and success are grounded in your ability to expertly defend your witnesses' credibility, or to effectively attack your adversary's. In essence, the success of your practice hinges on two simple questions: 'What do I ask?' and 'When do I ask it?'. This seminar will help you reconcile the rules of evidence law and the modern considerations of the craft of advocacy. This fast-paced, media-rich, practice-driven program will both entertain and provide invaluable tips to benefit every lawyer, regardless of age, gender, experience, or practice area. This seminar has been presented to and received excellent reviews from the Law Societies of Manitoba and British Columbia, as well as the Legal Education Society of Alberta. Don't miss this exciting opportunity!

Professor Easton received his Bachelor of Arts from Dickinson State University and his Juris Doctor from Stanford Law School. He is a trial lawyer and award-winning teacher who excelled at trial and in both law school and continuing legal education classrooms. His energy and focused approach flawlessly translate into practical and entertaining continuing legal education presentations.

Professor Easton served as the U.S. Attorney for the District of North Dakota and has tried cases in civil and criminal courts involving a wide range of diverse issues. He is a professor and was the former Dean of the University of Wyoming, College of Law. Previous to this, he served as a professor of law at the University of Missouri, School of Law. He continues to hone his litigation skills by actively trying cases even while serving as a law professor and former dean.

Professor Easton is the author of three essential guidebooks for attorneys: Attacking Adverse Experts; How to Win Jury Trials: Building Credibility with Judges and Jurors; and Problems, Cases & Materials in Professional Responsibility. He has also been published in both the legal and popular press, including The Federal Lawyer; The Practical Litigator; Stanford Law Review; The Wall Street Journal; and USA Today.
