Televised Seminar Family Law – Nailing Down the Deal

The Law Society is pleased to present the fifth annual televised seminar. This seminar will be hosted live at the University of Regina and broadcasted to 11 centers throughout Saskatchewan.

This televised seminar is designed to provide practitioners with insight and practical advice on the emerging and increasingly complex issues in family law. This seminar provides a series of innovative topics and will concentrate on drafting effective family law agreements ranging from Inter-spousal Contracts and Separation Agreements to Minutes of Settlement and Accepted Proposals.

Join local experts as they discuss important factors to consider in negotiations and enforceability. A discussion on drafting and advising on specific issues and clauses will round out a large portion of the program including elements relating to spousal support, child support, parenting arrangements and estate planning. The program also includes a discussion of ethical issues that may arise in agreements as well as a perspective from the Court. End the day with a presentation on recent notable family law decisions!

Don't miss this unique opportunity!
