

Family Law Chambers Advocacy Workshop

Attend this intensive hands-on workshop to develop exceptional family law Chambers advocacy skills and receive constructive feedback in a small group setting. Learn from your own performances, that of the other participants, and the faculty demonstrations. This workshop specific to family law provides an opportunity to hone your written and oral skills in a number of exercises, including notices of application, draft orders, Chambers appearance memos, affidavits, memos of law and oral submissions. The workshop is similar in format and intensity to the very successful Trial Advocacy Workshop that the Law Society has been delivering for years. Don't miss this opportunity to access the knowledge and expertise of our esteemed faculty of judges and accomplished practitioners!!

Learn by doing in this intensive hands-on Workshop.
Features of the Workshop include:

- Working small groups The faculty-to-student ratio is 9 instructors to 24 students.
- “Learn without the burn” Provides concentrated practice of your advocacy skills in a supportive non-threatening environment. Develop skills in a risk-free setting without compromising your client's case.
- Faculty of experienced judges and lawyers Access the skills and knowledge of experienced trial judges and some of Saskatchewan's finest courtroom practitioners.
- Current Saskatchewan-specific curriculum Exercises will be drawn from a family law fact pattern which will address parenting issues and support (income determination, child support and spousal support). The exercises will develop your skills in oral submissions as well as writing notices of applications, draft orders, affidavits, Chambers appearance memos and memos of law. The fact pattern and exercises have been prepared locally by our Workshop Planning Committee ensuring the content is relevant and current.
- Faculty feedback and constructive suggestions After each skills performance, you will receive constructive feedback from your instructors. Learn from your own performance and those of other participants. Demonstrations by instructors will provide you with the opportunity to observe effective advocacy skills.
